

U. S. TO PREVENT SMUGGLER SHOT FUEL SHORTAGE IN RIVER FIGHT

Washington, D. C., March 1.—Steps to prevent a shortage of fuel oil for government vessels were considered today at a conference called by Secretary Daniels and which was attended by chairman Payne, of the shipping board, acting secretary Vossler, of the interior department, who is directing affairs of that body following the resignation of Franklin K. Lane, director of the bureau of mines and representatives of the war department. While the situation is not new, Mr. Daniels said, oil consuming agencies of the government must study their needs in the light of the relation of the supply to the demand if a future shortage of fuel oil was to be avoided.

Should the United States be compelled to turn to coal burning craft, it was said, the only advantage it would have would be lost before the real struggle for commercial development began.

Given Preliminary Hearing. Rupture Kills 7,000 Annually

Jose Quintana, charged with theft over $24, in connection with the alleged robbery of a Southern Railway train, was given a preliminary hearing this afternoon before justice of the peace Clark Wright.

When the smugglers withdrew their two of their number behind an ambulance was called and the pair were rushed to the police emergency hospital, where one of them died at once. The other man was treated by a physician and sent at once to the hospital.

Ronquillo told the police that he recently came north from Parral, Chihuahua, in order to get work. He said he had been unable to get across the border because he did not have money, and that he met the smugglers and decided to assist them in order to get into the United States and get work. He said he did not know the other men with him. Ronquillo said there were only three smugglers in the gang while the soldiers declared there were seven.

The soldiers seized 99 bottles of whiskey and turned it over to their commanding officer. Across the river from the point where the fight occurred, a Mexican hat was seen lying in the sand, at the place where the Mexicans made their hurried retreat. The matter was turned over to military authorities for an investigation. The body of the dead smuggler is being held in a morgue at 544 Texas street, pending possible identification.

AFTER "FLU," GRIP

Fever and Other Prostrating Diseases that Exhaust the Blood. There is often that extreme tired feeling, loss of appetite, tendency to anemia, nerve exhaustion, inactive bowels, constipation and great danger of still further prostration and serious illness. Hood's Sarsaparilla first works upon the blood. It is remarkable how promptly its purifying, vitalizing effects are noticed. It "makes food taste good," promotes assimilation so as to help secure the greatest nourishment possible, promotes digestion. Nerve strength and energy health inevitably follow. Further danger is avoided and the glad-to-be-alive feeling again prevails. To read this is well, to realize it yourself is better. Hood's Sarsaparilla today, and for a cathartic, nothing better than Hood's Pils, in small doses a gentle laxative; larger, an active cathartic. —ADY.
